Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Monday 26 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain and showers during the morning. Turning drier, brighter later.

Today:
Rather cloudy through the morning with showers or longer periods of rain. Some heavier outbreaks expected, but gradually showers dwindling from the northwest through the afternoon as bright and sunny spells develop, and freshening northerly winds reach the Hebrides. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Rather cloudy with showers frequent for most, perhaps merging to longer periods of rain at times, except towards southern end of the Great Glen. Northeast winds brisk in west. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tuesday:
Rather cloudy and showery. Northeast winds, near gale initially across west, focusing the bulk of showers in north, where they turn heavy at times. Best of limited brightness in Lochaber. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
North to northeast flow continuing to feed showers across the area, again with the bulk of outbreaks focused across eastern and northern parts. Southwest seeing the best of the shelter.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.